What is a Learning Community?

Learning Communities are linked courses where students have the advantage of getting to know and work with a small group of peers for a full semester.

Studies show that students who bond to a college, a faculty member, or a group of students have a better chance of succeeding in college.

An exciting benefit of the Learning Community experience is peer mentoring. All students will be assigned a mentor who will reach out to them, offer support and provide helpful information related to being successful at SUNY Rockland.

The courses listed on the following pages have been paired together as Learning Communities.
