

CORPORATE & HOMELAND SECURITY

Associate in Science

Why Study Corporate & Homeland Security?

The Corporate and Homeland Security degree is designed to provide students with the information and issues surrounding the protection of our nation's critical infrastructure (energy, transportation, telecommunications, agriculture, etc.). Principles of protection, investigation, and concepts relating to industrial espionage and competitive intelligence are also explored in the field of corporate and homeland security. Students completing this degree will be prepared to transfer to a four-year institution to continue their education and career goals.

Occupational Objectives

Students who complete this degree program may find positions in the private sector with business corporations and security firms, as well as many government agencies such as the Department of Homeland Security and the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

Program Goals

- Demonstrate initiative, leadership, teamwork and continued development to be successful in the field of corporate and homeland security.
- Students will use their broad education to interpret and understand their roles as professionals in industry and society.
- Encourage active informed citizenship and leadership in students through the mastery of effective communication skills and the thoughtful consideration of ethical issues.
